

Awakening to the Alien Interview Book

by Eduardo Espadas Arrate (June 2020)

Contents

1. The Beginning Of The Story
2. Service-To-Self Answers
3. Service-To-Others Answers (Airl)
4. Raelian Embassy
5. What is the human tragedy all about? (Airl)
6. Could you elucidate Immortal Spiritual Beings? (Airl)
7. Mount Bugarach
8. Aesthetic Beauty Trap
9. Identifying The Location Of Amnesia Stations
10. The Voynich Manuscript And Suleiman The Magnificent
11. If Our Questions Are Wrong, How About The Answers?
(Lawrence R Spencer)
12. Electromagnetism And Humans
13. Historical Influencers
14. Some Thoughts

The Beginning Of The Story

There was a surprise attack against an expeditionary base of The Domain in the Himalaya's range 8000 years ago. The aggression involved forces from the 'Old Empire'. Unknowingly, the Domain had stepped into an ongoing 'Old Empire' operation in Earth, where they had created a prison planet from an experimental garden without native population.

A part of the 'Old Empire' fleet, after the fall of their home planet into The Domain's hands, was nearby in support of a Mind Control operation which was being held on this planet against the population of 'untouchables' from their territories. They had claimed the planet as their own, and any transgression according to their laws, deserved punishment. The Domain's expeditionary party headquarters was stationed here as part of a bigger operation of expansion at this end of the galaxy, after having staked claim of Earth.

By the time being, the Amnesia Machinery from the 'Old Empire' keeps working unsupervised in three unknown locations. Waiting for the day someone is able to neutralize it and begin a new era, where people will be able to choose freely between leaving Earth or staying and recover slowly their memory of past lives after death. Meanwhile, some planetary cultures of strong service-to-self orientation, part of the 'Old Empire', still use Earth to drop here their 'untouchables' now for free. In contrast, The Domain stands as a service-to-others culture where this amnesia practice is not tolerated.

Self management of life in a population under these circumstances, takes another twist. First, one should be able to recall its own origin as being far away from Earth and second realize there is not a single reason to be here. Service-to-self political orientation has been and is still the main protagonist, promoted subvertly by the own operators of the 'Old Empire' through history until now. Whereas service-to-others initiatives by members of The Domain helped notably to counter their influence they had limited success. Ignorance that death, likewise, has been manipulated to fit the purpose of the prison is generalized. The resulting Thought evolution has Science ignoring completely the reality of the Spirit and its study, while Religions take advantage of the amnesia between lives to secure allegiance purporting nonexistent paradises, hells and gods. Likewise, governments, corporations and financial institutions exert a deep pressure over citizens to keep them from straying away of imposed rules.

Service-To-Self Answers

The meaning of life is reproduction and survival; you can degrade yourself/others to the point you pass unnoticed, or agreed upon, else there will be a punishment. People are just an infinitesimal part in this process, if they don't agree, someone will put them back into place.

Biological death happens to biological bodies, but the mission is and will always be to provide another challenge. You'll lose identity, and memories, only Self will be able to find its nature in the future.

Peace and fulfillment can only be achieved as a full-time tax paying slave, but wars and unrest make it worth the cost. Make your life a purposeful one by climbing relentlessly the social ladder, where you can let your light shine, as an example of achievement.

The only chaos you'll find comes from others, so you will have to face this up to establish truth. There's a star shining upon you because you belonged to the gods' family before you were born. The Universe was created by the silent Power of the Witness.

Your mission in life is to be above others, actively teaching by any means those who don't conform to the model. If you had to think of a god remember there nobody better than yourself. Others are reflecting the idea of perfection upon you, so take it and make your will. The divine He or She has to be likewise; hence play it by the rules, then carry on business.

Truth is relative to the Witness point of view, source of the Universe. Life after death is upon Self, so live the here and now. Happiness and contentment depend on the power of being able to do what suits best to Self at the right time.

Death is unavoidable for now, until humans find the technology. Self realization comes from handling personal power across the challenge. Love is until death makes us apart, the sharing is never lost. Enlightenment is knowing, understanding and fulfilling Self needs, thus becoming an example. Your unique potentials are within yourself, wake up and participate. Keep trust upon you, but exercise the ability to cash on your potentials by observing trends, and seizing the moment. There won't be second chances.

If you want more answers after the previous round, keep reading. You don't need to know yourself, you are the evidence of yourself. When you see the world with your eyes, feel it under your feet, above your head, in your hands, then you know everything. You were born with a particular sex, hence the meaning of life is to find a partner and place in society. This meaning comes from observation, understanding the expectations of those around, and giving people what they want, need, or deserve according to your fair criteria.

Wisdom is the ability of getting the most while giving the least. In your deep sleep, feel everything coming to you because you own all that it takes. Your dreams come from the unaware part of Self in the struggle for understanding risks. Deep dreams, sometimes will reveal common people misunderstandings, others give you clues on different aspects on experience.

To find your mission in life believe in luck, your good star, and work hard to find the time and place it will be revealed, so you can grasp it up, just for you to make it happen. To find truth you don't need to go far away, or into elaborate thoughts, get inspiration from life, instinct and trickery will work to fill the needs. You know something is either true or false only in the end, when it loses meaning for everyone else but you, and may be discarded.

Besides, do never trust others giving you these answers, it could be a trap since this is the way of nature. Trust only in yourself, else your inner strength and purpose may resent. Other people's answers are valid just for themselves, you're already in a steady position. Figure out what the answers are when the challenges reach your stand. There's no need to rush until the common dream is at a stake.

Service-To-Others Answers (Airl)

I will provide information to you that I think will be beneficial to the well-being of the immortal spiritual beings who comprise humanity, and that will foster the survival of all the myriad life forms and the environment of Earth. The skill required to modify the planet into an ecologically interactive environment that will support billions of diverse species was an immense undertaking. Specialized consultants from nearly every biotechnology company in the galaxy were brought in to help with the project. What you see now on Earth is the huge variety of life forms left behind.

All sentient beings are immortal spiritual beings. You are an "IS-BE", because the primary nature of an immortal being is that they live in a timeless state of "is", and the only reason for their existence is that they decide to "be". Each IS-BE is completely unique in identity, power, awareness and ability. No matter how lowly their station in a society, every IS-BE deserves the respect and treatment that I myself would like to receive from others. Each person on Earth continues to be an IS-BE whether they are aware of the fact or not.

Since an IS-BE is not a physical universe entity it has no location in space or time. An IS-BE is literally, "immaterial". They can span great distances of space instantly. They can experience sensations, more intensely than a biological body, without the use of physical sensory mechanisms. An IS-BE can exclude pain from their perception.

Before the formation of the physical universe there was a vast period during which universes were not solid, but wholly illusionary. You might say that the universe was a universe of magical illusions which were made to appear and vanish at the will of the magician. In every case, the "magician" was one or more IS-BEs.

The physical universe is formed from the convergence and amalgamation of many other individual universes, each one of which were created by an IS-BE or group of IS-BEs. The collision of these illusory universes conmingled and coalesced and were solidified to form a mutually created universe. Because it is agreed that energy and forms can be created, but not destroyed, this creative process has continued to form an ever-expanding universe of nearly infinite physical proportions.

Each IS-BE entered into the physical universe when they lost their own, "home" universe. That is, when an IS-BE's "home" universe was overwhelmed by the physical universe, or when the IS-BE joined with other IS-BEs to create or conquer the physical universe.

On the home planet of an IS-BE their material possessions were not lost, stolen or forgotten when the being died or left the body. An IS-BE could return and claim the possessions.

The first development of biological bodies began in this universe about seventy-four trillion years ago. It rapidly became a fad for IS-BEs to create and inhabit various types of bodies for an assortment of nefarious reasons: especially for amusement, this is to experience various physical sensations vicariously through the body.

Since that time there has been a continuing "de-evolution" in the relationship of IS-BEs to bodies. As IS-BEs continued to play around with these bodies, certain tricks were introduced to cause IS-BEs to get trapped inside a body so they were unable to leave again.

This was done primarily by making bodies that appeared sturdy, but were actually very fragile. An IS-BE, using their natural power to create energy, accidentally injured a body when contacting it. The IS-BE was remorseful about having injured this fragile body. The next time they encountered a body they began to be "careful" with them. In so doing, the IS-BE would withdraw or minimize their own power so as not to injure the body. A very long and treacherous history of this kind of trickery, combined with similar misadventures eventually resulted in a large number of IS-BEs becoming permanently trapped in bodies.

Of course this became a profitable enterprise for some IS-BEs who took advantage of this situation to make slaves of others. The resulting enslavement progressed over trillions of years, and continues today. Ultimately the dwindling ability of IS-BEs to maintain a personal state of operational freedom and ability to create energy resulted in a vast and carefully guarded hierarchy or class system.

Every speck of dust in space, from the size of the tiniest subatomic particle, to the size of a sun or a magelantic cloud the size of many galaxies, was created from the nothingness of a thought. Even the tiniest, individual cells were contrived and coordinated to enable a microbial entity to sense, and navigate through infinitesimally small spaces. These also came from an idea thought up by an IS-BE.

You, and every IS-BE on Earth, have participated in the creation of this universe. Even though you are now confined to a fragile body made of flesh; you live for only 65 short rotations of your planet around a star; you have been given overwhelming electric shock treatments to wipe out your memory; you must learn everything all over again each lifetime; in spite of all these circumstances, you are who you are and will always be. And, deep down, you still know that your are and what you know. You are still the essence of you.

The most fundamental problems that must be solved in order to ensure that Earth will not be destroyed by technology, are social and humanitarian problems. Therefore, do not look to scientists to save Earth or the future of humanity. Any so-called "science" that is solely based on the paradigm that existence is composed only of energy and objects moving through space is not a science. Such beings utterly ignore the creative spark originated by an individual IS-BE and collective work of the IS-BEs who continually create the physical universe and all universes. Every science will remain relatively ineffective or destructive to the degree that it omits or devaluates the relative importance of the spiritual spark that ignites all of creation and life.

Do not rely on the dogma of physical sciences to master the fundamental forces of creation any more than you would trust the chanted incantations of an incense-burning shaman. The net result of both of these is entrapment and oblivion. Scientists pretend to observe, but they only suppose that they see, and call it fact. Like the blind man, a scientist can not learn to see until he realizes that he is blind. The "facts" of Earth science do not include the source of creation. They include only the result, or byproducts of creation. The "facts" of science do not include any memory of the nearly infinite past experience of existence. The paradigm of science is that creation is all, and the creator is nothing. Religion says the creator is all, and the creation is nothing. These two extremes are the bars of a prison cell. They prevent observation of all phenomenon as an interactive whole.

The true geniuses of civilization are those IS-BEs who will enable other IS-BEs to recover their memory and regain self-realization and self-determination. This issue is not solved through enforcing moral regulation on behavior, or through the control of beings through mystery, faith, drugs, guns or any other dogma of a slave society. And certainly not through the use of electric shock and hypnotic commands!

The survival of Earth and every being on it depends on the ability to recover the memory of skills you have accrued through the trillenia; to recover the essence of yourself. We are interested in preventing destruction, as well as accelerating the development of technologies that will sustain the infrastructures of the global biosphere, hydrosphere and atmosphere. If humanity is to survive, it must cooperate to find effective solutions to the difficult conditions of your existence on Earth. Humanity must rise above its human form and discover where they are, and that they are IS-BEs, and who they really are as IS-BEs in order to transcend the notion that they are merely biological bodies. Once these realizations have been made, it may be possible to escape your current imprisonment. Otherwise, there will be no future for the IS-BEs on Earth.

When one knows that these activities exist, the effects can be observed clearly. The most obvious examples of these actions against the human race can be seen as incidents of sudden, inexplicable behavior. They are playing insidious games with no purpose and no goal other than to control and destroy IS-BEs who could otherwise manage themselves perfectly well, if left alone. Why not keep the inmates fighting between themselves? Why not empower madmen to run the governments of Earth?

The human race will continue to shadow box with this for a long time -as long as it remains the human race. Until then, the IS-BEs on Earth will continue to live series of consecutive lives, over and over and over. In between each lifetime an IS-BE is sent back again, to begin all over, as though the new life was the only life they had ever lived. They begin anew in pain, in misery, and mystery.

Some IS-BEs have been transported to Earth more recently than others. Some IS-BEs have been on Earth only a few hundred years, so they have no personal experiences with the earlier civilizations of Earth. They have no experiences of having lived on Earth, so could not remember a previous existence here, even if their memory was restored. They might, however, remember lives they lived elsewhere on other planets and in other times. Others have been here since the first days of Lemuria. In any case, the IS-BEs of Earth are here forever, until they can break the amnesia cycle, conquer the electronic traps set up by their captors and free themselves.

Immortal Spiritual Beings are the source and creators of illusions. Each one, individually and collectively, in their original, unfettered state of being, are an eternal, all-powerful, all-knowing entity.

IS-BEs create space by imagining a location. The intervening distance between themselves and the imagined location is what we call space. An IS-BE can perceive the space and objects created by other IS-BEs.

IS-BEs are not physical universe entities. They are a source of energy and illusion. IS-BEs are not located in space or time, but can create space, place particles in space, create energy, and shape particles into various forms, cause the motion of forms, and animate forms. Any form that is animated by an IS-BE is called life.

An IS-BE can decide to agree that they are located in space or time, and that they, themselves, are an object, or any other manner of illusion created by themselves or another or other IS-BEs. The disadvantage of creating an illusion is that an illusion must be continually created. If not continually created, it disappears. Continual creation of an illusion requires incessant attention to every detail of the illusion in order to sustain it.

A common denominator of IS-BEs seems to be the desire to avoid boredom. A spirit only, without interaction with other IS-BEs, and the unpredictable motion, drama, and unanticipated intentions and illusions being created by other IS-BEs, is easily bored.

What if you could imagine anything, perceive everything, and cause anything to happen, at will? What if you couldn't do anything else? What if you always knew the outcome of every game and the answer to every question? Would you get bored?

The entire back time track of IS-BEs is immeasurable, nearly infinite in terms of physical universe time. There is no measurable "beginning" or "end" for an IS-BE. They simply exist in an everlasting now.

Another common denominator of IS-BEs is that admiration of one's own illusions by others is very desirable. If the desired admiration is not forthcoming, the IS-BE will keep creating the illusion in an attempt to get admiration. One could say that the entire physical universe is made of unadmired illusions.

The origins of this universe began with the creation of individual, illusionary spaces. These were the "home" of the IS-BE. Sometimes a universe is a collaborative creation of illusions by two or more IS-BEs. A proliferation of IS-BEs, and the universes they create, sometimes collide or become commingled or merge to an extent that many IS-BEs shared in the co-creation of a universe.

IS-BEs diminish their ability in order to have a game to play. IS-BEs think that any game is better than no game. They will endure pain, suffering, stupidity, privation, and all manner of unnecessary and undesirable conditions, just to play a game. Pretending that one does not know all, see all and cause all, is a way to create the conditions necessary for playing a game: unknowns, freedoms, barriers and/or opponents and goals. Ultimately, playing a game solves the problem of boredom.

In this fashion, all of the space, galaxies, suns, planets, and physical phenomena of this universe, including life forms, places, and events that have been created by IS-BEs and sustained by mutual agreement that these things exist.

There are as many universes as there are IS-BEs to imagine, build and perceive them, each existing concurrently within its own continuum. Each universe is created using its own, unique set of rules, as imagined, altered, preserved or destroyed by one or more IS-BEs who created it. Time, energy, objects and space, as defined in terms of the physical universe, may or may not exist in other universes. The Domain exists in such a universe, as well as in the physical universe.

One of the rules of the physical universe is that energy can be created, but not destroyed. So, the universe will keep expanding as long as IS-BEs keep adding more new energy into it. It is nearly infinite. It is like an automobile assembly line that never stops running and none of the cars are ever destroyed.

Every IS-BE is basically good. Therefore, an IS-BE does not enjoy doing things to other IS-BEs which they themselves do not want to experience. For an IS-BE there is no inherent standard for what is good or bad, right or wrong, ugly or beautiful. These ideas are all based on the opinion of each individual IS-BE.

The closest concept that human beings have to describe an IS-BE is as a god: all-knowing, all-powerful, infinite. So, how does a god stop being a god? They pretend NOT to know. How can you play a game of "hide and seek" if you always know where the other person is hiding?

You pretend NOT to know where the other players are hiding, so you can go off to "seek" them. This is how games are created. You have forgotten that you are just "pretending". In so doing, IS-BEs become entrapped and enslaved inside a maze of their own devising.

How does one create a cage, lock one's own self inside the cage, throw away the key, and forget there is a key or a cage, and forget there is an "inside" or "outside", and even forget there is a self? Create the illusion that there is no illusion: the entire universe is real, and that no other universe exists or can be created.

On Earth, the propaganda taught and agreed upon is that the gods are responsible, and that human beings are not responsible. You are taught that only a god can create universes. So, the responsibility for every action is assigned to another IS-BE or god. Never oneself.

No human being ever assumes personal responsibility for the fact that they, themselves -individually and collectively- are gods. This fact alone is the source of entrapment for every IS-BE.

(Selected excerpts from the Alien Interview book edited by Lawrence R. Spencer)

Raelian Embassy

Rael, Claude Maurice Marcel Vorilhon, is the founder of the Raelian Movement. In his teachings they claim humans were created by aliens. He has earned a good number of testimonies both 'good' and 'bad' from people. Since he is controversial, people who adhere to the system's old beliefs and practices may try to expose him in a bad light. Whereas his true followers, bound for new frontiers, revere his messages.

Personally, his message rings true to me, possibly the Elohim and the Domain's civilization mentioned in Alien Interview are the same, no matter how different is the source of the experience. I really praise his endeavor of calling common people from all over the world to teach the truth, or reaching out to the polls to create an Embassy for the Elohim.

Check out the project's website at elohimembassy.org

Do you want to sign the petition for the Elohim Embassy at change.org?

<http://www.change.org/p/to-all-governments-of-the-earth-support-the-building-of-an-embassy-for-extraterrestrial-humans-the-elohim>

What is the human tragedy all about? (Airl)

Biological flesh bodies live for only a very short time -only 60 to 150 years, at most -whereas doll bodies can be re-used and repaired almost indefinitely.

The first development of biological bodies began in this universe about seventy-four trillion years ago. It rapidly became a fad for Immortal Spiritual Beings (IS-BEs) to create and inhabit various types of bodies for an assortment of nefarious reasons: especially for amusement, this is to experience various physical sensations vicariously through the body.

Since that time there has been a continuing "de-evolution" in the relationship of IS-BEs to bodies. As IS-BEs continued to play around with these bodies, certain tricks were introduced to cause IS-BEs to get trapped inside a body so they were unable to leave again.

This was done primarily by making bodies that appeared sturdy, but were actually very fragile. An IS-BE, using their natural power to create energy, accidentally injured a body when contacting it. The IS-BE was remorseful about having injured this fragile body.

The next time they encountered a body they began to be "careful" with them. In so doing, the IS-BE would withdraw or minimize their own power so as not to injure the body. A very long and treacherous history of this kind of trickery, combined with similar misadventures eventually resulted in a large number of IS-BEs becoming permanently trapped in bodies.

Of course this became a profitable enterprise for some IS-BEs who took advantage of this situation to make slaves of others. The resulting enslavement progressed over trillions of years, and continues today.

(Selected excerpts from the Alien Interview book edited by Lawrence R. Spencer)

Could you elucidate Immortal Spiritual Beings? (Airl)

Immortal Spiritual Beings, which I refer to as "IS-BEs", for the sake of convenience, are the source and creators of illusions. Each one, individually and collectively, in their original, unfettered state of being, are an eternal, all-powerful, all-knowing entity.

IS-BEs create space by imagining a location. The intervening distance between themselves and the imagined location is what we call space. An IS-BE can perceive the space and objects created by other IS-BEs.

IS-BEs are not physical universe entities. They are a source of energy and illusion. IS-BEs are not located in space or time, but can create space, place particles in space, create energy, and shape particles into various forms, cause the motion of forms, and animate forms. Any form that is animated by an IS-BE is called life.

An IS-BE can decide to agree that they are located in space or time, and that they, themselves, are an object, or any other manner of illusion created by themselves or another or other IS-BEs.

The disadvantage of creating an illusion is that an illusion must be continually created. If not continually created, it disappears. Continual creation of an illusion requires incessant attention to every detail of the illusion in order to sustain it.

A common denominator of IS-BEs seems to be the desire to avoid boredom. A spirit only, without interaction with other IS-BEs, and the unpredictable motion, drama, and unanticipated intentions and illusions being created by other IS-BEs, is easily bored.

What if you could imagine anything, perceive everything, and cause anything to happen, at will? What if you couldn't do anything else? What if you always knew the outcome of every game and the answer to every question? Would you get bored?

The entire back time track of IS-BEs is immeasurable, nearly infinite in terms of physical universe time. There is no measurable "beginning" or "end" for an IS-BE. They simply exist in an everlasting now.

Another common denominator of IS-BEs is that admiration of one's own illusions by others is very desirable. If the desired admiration is not forthcoming, the IS-BE will keep creating the illusion in an attempt to get admiration. One could say that the entire physical universe is made of unadmired illusions.

The origins of this universe began with the creation of individual, illusionary spaces. These were the "home" of the IS-BE. Sometimes a universe is a collaborative creation of illusions by two or more IS-BEs. A proliferation of IS-BEs, and the universes they create, sometimes collide or become commingled or merge to an extent that many IS-BEs shared in the co-creation of a universe.

IS-BEs diminish their ability in order to have a game to play. IS-BEs think that any game is better than no game. They will endure pain, suffering, stupidity, privation, and all manner of unnecessary and undesirable conditions, just to play a game. Pretending that one does not know all, see all and cause all, is a way to create the conditions necessary for playing a game: unknowns, freedoms, barriers and/or opponents and goals.

Ultimately, playing a game solves the problem of boredom. In this fashion, all of the space, galaxies, suns, planets, and physical phenomena of this universe, including life forms, places, and events that have been created by IS-BEs and sustained by mutual agreement that these things exist.

There are as many universes as there are IS-BEs to imagine, build and perceive them, each existing concurrently within its own continuum. Each universe is created using its own, unique set of rules, as imagined, altered, preserved or destroyed by one or more IS-BEs who created it. Time, energy, objects and space, as defined in terms of the physical universe, may or may not exist in other universes. The Domain exists in such a universe, as well as in the physical universe.

One of the rules of the physical universe is that energy can be created, but not destroyed. So, the universe will keep expanding as long as IS-BEs keep adding more new energy into it. It is nearly infinite. It is like an automobile assembly line that never stops running and none of the cars are ever destroyed.

Every IS-BE is basically good. Therefore, an IS-BE does not enjoy doing things to other IS-BEs which they themselves do not want to experience. For an IS-BE there is no inherent standard for what is good or bad, right or wrong, ugly or beautiful. These ideas are all based on the opinion of each individual IS-BE.

The closest concept that human beings have to describe an IS-BE is as a god: all-knowing, all-powerful, infinite. So, how does a god stop being a god? They pretend NOT to know. How can you play a game of "hide and seek" if you always know where the other person is hiding?

You pretend NOT to know where the other players are hiding, so you can go off to "seek" them. This is how games are created. You have forgotten that you are just "pretending". In so doing, IS-BEs become entrapped and enslaved inside a maze of their own devising.

How does one create a cage, lock one's own self inside the cage, throw away the key, and forget there is a key or a cage, and forget there is an "inside" or "outside", and even forget there is a self? Create the illusion that there is no illusion: the entire universe is real, and that no other universe exists or can be created.

On Earth, the propaganda taught and agreed upon is that the gods are responsible, and that human beings are not responsible. You are taught that only a god can create universes. So, the responsibility for every action is assigned to another IS-BE or god. Never oneself. No human being ever assumes personal responsibility for the fact that they, themselves -- individually and collectively -- are gods. This fact alone is the source of entrapment for every IS-BE.

It is my personal belief that the truth should not be sacrificed on the altar of political, religious or economic expediency. As an officer, pilot and engineer of The Domain it is my duty to protect the greater good of The Domain and its possessions. However, we cannot defend ourselves against forces of which we are not aware.

(Selected excerpts from the Alien Interview book edited by Lawrence R. Spencer)

Mount Bugarach

These were my initial notes about Mount Bugarach, in the French province of Aude near the Pyrenees, They are scrambled with information from the Alien Interview book.

key - Long history of documented mysteries key - The only place in the world which is going to survive Armageddon (1)

key - Doomsayers flock to Bugarach

key - End of times (2)

key - Mother spaceship coming to the rescue (3)

key - Authorities step protection and access key - The castle of Miglos is believed by some to be an entrance to the "Other World" (4)

Footnotes:

(1) An strategic point for operators of the "Old Empire"?

(2) End of time or preparation for a visit to the first ever candidate/localized mind control device. In theory, when the machine stops working, the spirit of the dead could return to their home in the universe. The immortality of the spirit is the norm in the universe-not the exception. Properly speaking, there is no native people on this planet.

(3) A Domain's ship prepares to investigate the place.

(4) Another World, or hidden screens and traps around Bugarach.

- Later Timeline

1941-1942 -- destruction of the last 'Old Empire' base in Mars

1988 -- Daniel Bettex demise

August to September, 2007 -- appx date of Matilda's death

2008 -- publication of Alien Interview

2010 -- first press report about doomsday and Bugarach

December, 2012 -- UFO sighting in Bugarach

* People walking in the mountain report that their cameras jammed when they tried to take pictures. They heard strange noises coming from the underground.

* Others who have lived in the small village for a long time say they have heard weird things near the mountain.

* Daniel Bettex, who came to the site, went on underground expeditions and eventually lost his life in these endeavors. Curiously enough, his body was found dehydrated within three days following his death.

* The tradition of entrances giving way to large subterranean networks sits within the pagan Celtic religion, in which hollow hills were deemed to be entrances to “other worlds”, specifically the realm of the fairies.

* Bettex contacted the Cathar organization that had been founded by Déodat Roché. In his correspondence with the organization, he enquired about places where he could begin his research. He desired remote locations, so that he was left undisturbed. Roché thus advised him to study the sector of Bugarach, which had been little prospected by other members of his organization, even though it was known that the Cathars referred to the mountain. (Cathars were a french branch of the Templars)

* Bettex never disclosed where exactly he did his research, allegedly as a pretense to gather the necessary equipment he excavated the old castle of Bugarach. After his death, the floors of the castle in Bugarach were filled with rubble and sealed with concrete.

* Today it is assumed the cave system Bettex researched is (or is connected with) the Font de Dotz, coordinates Latitude : N 42.87818 °, Longitude : E 2.359127 °.

* Though details and aspects may differ, in essence, each story follows a similar structure. Normally, it is an animal or a small child that falls into one of the numerous openings and is found again, sometimes days later, in perfect health -but it turns out they have no memory of their adventure. Sometimes, the missing person is an adult –a hunter, a shepherd, a poacher and in one case even a magistrate– who is discovered after a period of time. His beard was grown, but he had no memory of what happened to him.

* Two accounts speak of two men who accessed the underground, returning with entirely grayed hair! They reported that upon stumbling in the darkness of the underground with people, those who they encountered never were equipped with lighting. But, somehow they managed to move in this darkness, even were able to find an exit.

* Sometimes, the entrance is said to be guarded by a creature; sometimes, it is said that there are phenomenal treasures inside... finally, there is often a story present of a gigantic underground lake, or of major rivers feeding it, though it seems that these are possible to be traversed -even follow them up unknowing where they may lead...

Months later I could not help to notice a relationship between information in the Alien Interview book and Mount Bugarach. It is said that the Pyrenees Range hides one of three underground Amnesia Stations, currently unmanaged. The next step was a long planned visit to Bugarach (1230m) in Aude, France. We arrived the 29th and, next morning, the 30th of April 2016 we woke up to find the car had a flat tyre.

We stopped at a parking place for hikers, and soon after changing clothes were walking up a route that starts some 500m high. After a while into the forest of short trees the trail becomes narrower and steeper. Everything there looks uniform, a single tree species, bushes and, rock types. During the time we spent near the mountain the only animal I saw was a bird. The only sound, apart from either the wind near the top or a soft roar inside my head, was either that of the same bird I saw, or perhaps a similar specimen, every few minutes.

Two notorious features of the path along the woods were a big cube like rock -1.5m sides with engraved names and symbols, and the remainings of a tree that looked as if it was petrified. Out of this tree standing at 50cm tall, protruded two big eye socket cavities from what once were branches. After some thought I concluded the stump looked a lot like an unknown monitoring device.

To my perception, the area was prone to very strong Spirit Sensing activity - on the way back my companion noticed a woman carrying a Native American Spirit Catcher. I thought that Mount Bugarach was indeed a catalyzer of this and other energies, that actually we were close to a likely underground location mentioned in Alien Interview -a startling discovery. A type of imprinting created when Spiritual Sensing matches known information.

During the last meters inside the forest there were fewer and shorter trees, while more and bigger bushes could be seen. The wind was so strong after coming out of the woods, some 100-200 meters away from top that my friend, a veteran mountaineer, said it did not look a normal phenomenon at all. Upon reaching the height without trees, I had the continuing sensation I was walking over hollow ground.

My friend was eager to reach the highest point. He brought a picture of the inside of a cave, seemingly a refuge where some unknown artist had painted motifs. Meanwhile, I stood standing for a few minutes at the eerie smile area at the top and took the way back very slowly, occasionally giving myself time to notice the place for what it seemed long minutes. Just spiritually sensing the area, in a frame of induced panic produced by its electromagnetic fields to disengage myself from the experience and return to my normalcy.

Mt Bugarach according to geologists is an upside down mountain. That is, the material at the top is older than that below. These geologists suggest this is due to uplift of the Pyrenees. However, tying up the reports with data from the Alien Interview book and 2012 events the reason could be different. Perhaps they dug out a hole to build the installation inside and covered up the difference with the piled soil.. In whose case, the deepest-older substrate from the perforation would have been laid at the top surface of the mountain, just over the installation.

The best advice for truth-seekers is to trust their senses after having experienced the Aesthetic Beauty Trap recording. Be aware of what Alien Interview says about Amnesia Installations and, next time you visit Mt Bugarach ask your intuition.

Nobody knows when or how, but there is some hope this type of secret alien activity is uncovered and deactivated better sooner than later in the future. According to the Alien Interview book "Theoretically, if the amnesia mechanisms being used against Earth could be broken entirely, Immortal Spiritual Beings (IS-BEs) would regain all of their memory!" (Alien Interview)

"He who looks will not see it;
He who listens will not hear it;
He who gropes will not grasp it.
The formless nonentity, the motionless source of motion.
The infinite essence of the spirit is the source of life.

Spirit is self.
Walls form and support a room,
yet the space between them is most important.
A pot is formed of clay,
yet the space formed therein is most useful.
Action is caused by the force of nothing on something,
just as the nothing of spirit is the source of all form.

One suffers great afflictions because one has a body.
Without a body what afflictions could one suffer?
When one cares more for the body than for his own spirit,
One becomes the body and loses the way of the spirit.
The self, the spirit, creates illusion.

The delusion of Man is that reality is not an illusion.
One who creates illusions and makes them more real than reality, follows the path of the spirit and finds the way of heaven"

(Laozi)

Aesthetic Beauty Trap

Early in the 20th century a pharmacist, Alfred Partheil, noted the relationship between the molecular weight of the elements and sound frequency, later redefined at a 1Da=1Hz ratio. Endogenous hormones, proteins and the like in DNA are readily expressed when listening to their frequency.

In this project, we have to simulate the interaction between IZUMO1 and IZUMO1R proteins to validate the information from the book Alien Interview - regarding its debilitating effect and potential for addiction. The contact between 'male pain' (IZUMO1) protein in sperm and 'female aesthetic beauty' (IZUMO1R) receptor in the egg, produces the combination of electronic waves of pain and beauty that causes non-physical higher sentient beings to get stuck in the body.

"Another important mechanism used in the reproductive process, especially with Homo Sapiens type bodies, is the implantation of a "chemical-electrical trigger" mechanism in the body. The "trigger" which attracts Immortal Spiritual Beings (IS-BEs) to inhabit a human body, or any kind of "flesh body", is the use of an artificially imprinted electronic wave which uses "aesthetic pain" to attract the IS-BE." (Alien Interview book edited by Lawrence R. Spencer)

The theory behind is that since a spirit cannot be "killed," to "establish domination" the objective is to capture and immobilize the victim -the book says.

This mp3 assumes the frequencies below are the scalar equivalent of the molar masses subject of the inquiry:

713.028 Hz - IZUMO1

525.147 Hz - IZUMO1R

A first audition will have reduced effects due to self-resistance toward change. The third audition within the following 24 hours triggers the full experience.

Immortal Spiritual Beings belong to the non-physical universe, however, they can inhabit bodies -either biological or non-biological, because they are always the source of life within.

Still another trap keeps Immortal Spiritual Beings (ISBE's) attached to Earth.

They are the Amnesia Stations. I have visited one of the three locations, Mt. Bugarach. It was utterly sad to observe the different attitudes departed souls take when forced upon something.

There is no proof that humans, animals and flora are native to Earth. Moreover, Earth is the way it is for not yet known causes. Human nature in this planet seems bound to be born in amnesia for secret reasons, and legitimizing unproved knowledge is always a form of superstition.

https://archive.org/download/Aesthetic\_Beauty\_Trap/Aesthetic\_Beauty\_Trap.mp3

The concept of human-fertilization involves a male and a female human specimens. These specimens embody by principle the attributes of male "pain" (IZUMO1 gene) and female "aesthetic beauty" (IZUMO1R gene) to achieve the impregnation of a third entity still in the "non-physical plane".

As a matter of fact, it does not matter for the experiment whether the potential entity in the "non-physical plane" has its cache of memories, identity, talents and abilities intact or not. The procedure of sex must be carried on between both specimens in such an environment that "non-physical entities" are allowed to be lured in.

Other things being equal, the procedure may fail either in the absence of an entity to lure -like in Mars, or the existence of such a high-voltage electric field surrounding the subjects that impedes access. The process for the new life begins soon after the chemical reaction between both proteins is achieved.

Here is the link to an article about the Aesthetic Pain-Beauty Trap, or IZUMO1-IZUMO1R interaction as seen by recent experimentation.

<https://www.theglobeandmail.com/technology/science/scientists-capture-most-intimate-view-yet-of-human-conception/article30466138/comments/>

A video of the chemical reaction

<https://youtu.be/ovzGmRtVys>

As a final cautionary note, unless efforts are made to neutralize the machinery of amnesia and study the immaterial part of Humans, outstanding implications are,

- Manned space trips of a duration longer than human life aboard cannot take place.
- Fertilization of animals is not possible outside of Earth's orbit.

- There is no way of creating permanent colonies on either the Moon or Mars.
- Cryogenic preservation is not a viable alternative.
- Transhumanism, transplanting the Spiritual Essence to a non-biological body does not work either.
- Other undesirable situations such as overpopulation, all sorts of pollution, resource depletion and, waste accumulation will ensue.

Identifying The Location Of Amnesia Stations

There have been in the human past a number of legends which refer to the Amnesia Stations mentioned in the Alien Interview* book by LRS. The electromagnetic fields in the, so called, Amnesia Stations possibly have the power to react based upon movements in its vicinity. Perhaps one of the best known examples of Amnesia Stations in the eastern tradition is the legend of Shambhala. Nicholas Roerich (1874-1947), a researcher of Shambhala, does not pinpoint a specific location but he offers a timely description:

"... Moving sands. Like miserly guardians they defend the treasures which sometimes appear on the surface. Nobody shall dare to take them because they are guarded by hidden forces and can be given out only at a predestined time. From the earth are spreading some poisonous essences. Do not lean over the ground, do not try to raise from the ground that which does not belong to you. Otherwise you will fall dead, as falls the robber.

An experienced rider sends a dog before him, because the dog will first feel the influences of these earthly essences. Even an animal will not dare to enter the forbidden zone. No bonfires will attract you in these hidden places. Only some vultures will fly high over the mysterious land. Are they not also guardians? And to whom belong the bones, which glimmer so whitely on the sands? Who was this intruder, who dishonored the predestined dates? A huge black vulture rushes over the camp."

Amnesia Stations have external, internal and alternative meanings. The external meaning understands that they exist as a physical place, although only individuals with the appropriate level of knowledge can attain it and experience it as such. This external meaning is best elaborated by Gurdjieff when he writes that most humans are machines because they remain in the lower three chakras of survival, greed, and fear. Hence, bound to be prey of scientifically induced panic attacks. The inner meaning refers to an understanding of what they actually represent. The alternative meaning relates to the realization of their power.

How to know then when you are either close or right over one of those Amnesia Stations?

1.- The continuous operation of the machinery is able to create hypnotic states making people feel more vulnerable than they are, thus triggering psychopathic exacerbation in those prone to. Also, this functioning is the factor which prevents some meditators going from enjoyment of the integration with the universe to direct interaction. Besides, diverse electromagnetic programs of the machine attempt to manipulate Earth IS-BEs born in amnesia and alien visitors alike.

It is my guess that the other two locations feature too extreme weather just like the Mistral winds in Bugarach. One of my suspected locations is somewhere not far from Kifuka in South Kivu, DR Congo near the Rwenzori Mts. which boasts the most lighting strikes per year in the World. The third location is northwest of Quinghai Lake in China, thus featuring extreme day to night temperature changes. Roerich was in this area when he saw an UFO. Weather at these locations is discouraging at best for human and animal inhabitation. There are also magnetic interferences to electronic devices, the likes of scarce biological life in the vicinity and human conflicts.

2.- The Spirits of the deceased captured by the detection mechanism could amount to some 2000 / Hr in each location. Although we can not see them with the eyes, we are able to perceive personal reactions product of the situation. Empathy toward those IS-BEs (Immortal Spiritual Being) being sequestered is required since each IS-BE is a different universe in itself and they react with different attitudes. They are detected in a sort of frontotemporal screen within the brain, where they can only share emotions.

3.- IS-BEs after being processed by the machine integrate some spiritual control mechanisms, for example -do not forget to return. After the abduction and memory erasure the IS-BE no longer has the mental and spiritual baggage it had before being abducted. ISBEs at this stage are responsible for producing in visitors to the place sudden sharp ice-like penetrating sensations. They want to know what you are, they feel attracted to the particular biochemistry. Soon they will be either looking for reincarnation, or perhaps the most pleasant biochemistry such as the Twin Flame to hang around for a while. The recording of the Aesthetic Beauty Trap has brought me on occasion to similar experiences with these recycled ISBE's.

Local tales, legends can help confirm observations.

* "These electronic monitoring points create force screens designed to detect and capture IS-BEs, when the IS-BE departs the body at death. IS-BEs are brainwashed using extreme electronic force in order to maintain Earth's population in state of perpetual amnesia. Further population controls are installed through the use of long range electronic thought control mechanisms. These stations are still in operation and they are extremely difficult to attack or destroy..."

The Voynich Manuscript And Suleiman The Magnificent

In the life of the average person there are still issues which cannot be solved through enforcing moral regulation on behavior, or through the control of people through mystery, faith, drugs, guns or any other dogma. Namely, restoring the individual memory to regain self-realization and self-determination. Some paragraphs from Matilda notes to the Alien Interview book by LRS read:

"... another major advance occurred recently. An acquaintance of The Commanding Officer of The Domain Expeditionary Force Space Station is an IS-BE who had once been an important engineer and officer in the "Old Empire" Space Fleet. This engineer, in a previous lifetime on Earth, was Suleiman The Magnificent. His assistant was a harem girl who rose up from slavery to become his wife and rule the Ottoman empire with him. He became an "untouchable" himself about 10,000 years ago and was sentenced to Earth for leading a mutiny against the oppressive regime of the "Old Empire".

The engineer was trained in Advanced Scientific Improvisation Theory thousands of years ago. This man has applied his expertise to helping The Domain solve the apparently unsolvable problem of rescuing the members of the Lost Battalion, as well as the IS-BEs on Earth.

Careful observation and experimental analysis of the mechanics of memory in IS-BEs by he (Suleiman The Magnificent) and his wife, who assisted him, led to the realization that IS-BEs can recover from amnesia and also regain lost abilities. Together they discovered and developed effective methods that they used to rehabilitate their own memories. They eventually codified their methods so that others can safely be trained to apply them to themselves and others, without detection by the "Old Empire" thought control operators. "

Allegedly the only manuscript from the time of Suleiman with a certain aura of mystery is the so called Voynich Manuscript. It is notorious because, so far, has not been deciphered. According to some sources Ogier Ghiselin Busbecque got the book from Suleiman, and took it with him to Austria. The book, filled with codified text and drawings, appears to be a herbal medicine treatise of the time. It is uncertain whether or not scholars can make sense of the manuscript without more hints about the content. However, some attempts to translation I have read support this theory.

In the same line of thought comes the Genetic Memories mp3, based upon sound frequencies of the chakras and Airl quotes translated into music. The snippets of text related to IS-BEs are taken from the Alien Interview book.

https://archive.org/download/Genetic\_Memories\_Project/09

Genetic\_Memories\_93m\_session.mp3

https://archive.org/download/TheVoynichManuscript/Voynich\_Manuscript.pdf

https://archive.org/download/1947RoswellAI.INTERVIEWMatildaODonnellMacElroy/1947\_Roswell%20AI.%20INTERVIEW%20-%20Matilda%20O%20Donnell%20MacElroy.pdf

If Our Questions Are Wrong, How About The Answers? (Lawrence R Spencer)

One of the most startling revelations to come out of the “Alien Interview” transcripts are: 1) Humanity is not asking the right questions about itself, life, the universe, the gods, evolution, religion, or just about anything else! How can we advance our understanding of our existence if we don’t even know who we are, how we came to be here, and what relationship we have to the rest of existence? 2) If the information provided by Airl in the interview transcripts is true, the people of Earth are in a situation that makes the worst science fiction monster movie nightmare seem like a kids birthday party, by comparison.

Obviously, the myopically isolated placement of Mankind on a tiny planet on the rim of a galaxy, disconnected from any other discernible life forms, is an overwhelming disadvantage, to say the least. The recorded memory of Mankind is barely more than 10,000 years, at best. One obvious question is “where did the human race come from?”. Really. The evidence indicates that all of the varied races of Mankind just sort of “appeared”, fully formed with cultures, language, religion, pyramid building skills, agriculture, mythology, etc., at many places all over the world, simultaneously, about 12,000 years ago. The mythology of every continent in the world reports and earlier, advanced civilization, and a great flood that wiped them out. OK. So, where did they come from?

The mathematical odds that we are the “only intelligent life” in the universe are infinitesimally small. This begs the question, “why do we feel that there must be other intelligent life out there?” Again, there is no indisputable evidence to answer this. It’s just a “feeling” many of us share. We see UFOs everywhere, apparently, yet there is no indisputable evidence that they exist. The potentials answers are obvious: 1) they don’t really exist 2) they really DO exist, but they don’t want us to know about it. However, there may be real answers to these, and many other questions, contained in the statements of “Airl” the officer, pilot, and engineer of The Domain interviewed by Matilda O’Donnell MacElroy. Let’s assume for a moment that the information in the transcript is factual:

Airl says that she is a member of an intergalactic expeditionary force of “The Domain”, a very advanced civilization which is trillions of year old. She says that Earth is a prison planet, and we are all inmates being held here without our knowledge and against our will. We are in a perpetually renewed state of amnesia by our captors. The beings, or “IS-BEs”, sentenced to Earth are all unwanted by the governments of “Old Empire” planets that sent us here. The population of Earth is comprised of psychotic criminals and sexual perverts, co-mingled with artists, geniuses, managers, revolutionaries and a wide variety of “untouchables”. Even though, as “IS-BEs”, we come from a races of beings and civilizations that are trillions of years old, we are all unwanted and forgotten by the societies who have kicked us out and shipped us here.

Further, we are forced to inhabit fragile biological bodies from which there is, apparently, no easy escape. We are not in our native place or state of being, anymore than a unicorn could evolve from a goat. Is it any wonder that people find any or all of this difficult to believe?

To compound the overwhelming chaos of our condition, we have been lied to by our captors who have made our condition appear to be something other than what it actually is. False civilizations, cultures and religions, as well as ideas, such as an “evolutionary line”, have been artificially planted on Earth and in the minds of the inmates to create the illusion that we are “native inhabitants” of this planet, along with the indigenous animals in the “zoological prison”. No evidence exists to demonstrate this to be true, regardless of how hard “scientists” try to piece together bits of completely unrelated information to form an argument in favor of it.

Furthermore, this entire sector of the universe is currently being invaded, and will be “assimilated”, over the next few thousand years, into the civilization known as “The Domain”, who have already conquered the “Old Empire” planets from which we were expelled. And, apparently, The Domain is not any more interested in us, than you and I would be interested in visiting the inmates of a high-security prison or insane asylum.

One of the many keys that keep the gates of our prison locked is that this entire “reality”, compared to the “reality” we commonly agree upon, is too “unbelievable”. Very few believe it, or confront it. Why would anyone even want to try? Yet the majority of Earth inhabitants accept, as fact, that there is a “heaven” which not one person has very visited and returned with proof. We are told by priests and politicians to accept their pie-in-the-sky promises as a matter of “faith”, only to be betrayed lifetime after lifetime throughout all of history. No only that, we’re supposed to pay them for the privilege of believing what we can’t see, and what they can’t prove! Somebody’s crazy here.

Isn’t it about time we started asked some questions that are really relevant? Very few people question what they are told to think by priests and politicians, so a “false reality” continues to be hidden right in front of our faces. It is much easier to deny any responsibility for one’s own life, freedom, intelligence and integrity, and blame all of our problems on the gods, or anyone other than ourselves. As a result of this bizarre set of conditions, we live in a world full of death, turmoil, destruction, criminality and perpetual pain mixed with kindness, hope, beauty, wisdom, technical know-how, ambition and spiritual self-awareness shrouded in mystery.

What can we gain from this information? Is it of any real value to us? What can we do that will make a fundamental difference in our situation? Let’s begin by asking ourselves this question: who are we, really? Airl says we are all “IS-BEs” who have had the memory of our true identities erased in order to keep us captive. The last thing our captors want us to do is to remember who we are, where we came from, and who sent us here. I suggest that these are the very first questions we need to ask. After all, if we knew the answers to these questions, maybe we could remember how to escape from this place.

These, and many more questions, are the subject of this Blog. I, for one, am not content with things as they are. How about you?

(Repost from Lawrence R. Spencer, Editor)

Originally posted 2009-03-05

Electromagnetism And Humans

Electromagnetism is an important factor in the Amnesia Instalations the Alien Interview book mentions. There is already a general concern about the use of wi-fi, televisions, computers or mobiles since they are sources of electromagnetic radiation. Oftentimes reports about dangers or benefits are either way too simple, or very complex. It is not appropriate to compare human to alien sources of electromagnetism.

For the sake of information, the following is an article by Esther Inglis-Arkell posted at io9.gizmodo.com about the effects of electromagnetism in humans.

10 Things an Electromagnetic Field Can Do to Your Brain

We all know that electromagnetic fields are magic and can do anything at any time for any reason. Sometimes, though, they can be harnessed to do certain things in particular. Electromagnetic fields can be applied to the skull, making your brain do strange, and sometimes completely inexplicable things. Find out how scientists use magnetic fields to rip your mind apart, make it better, and have it do tricks like a trained puppy.

10. Shred its DNA

Well, it's no surprise that not all the things a high electromagnetic field can do are good. Actually, even a mild electromagnetic field can wreck a brain if it's applied over a long time. Scientists found that an electromagnetic field applied to lab rats over time resulted in broken strands of DNA in the brain. Not just anywhere - the brain specifically. It's possible that this DNA damage is the cause of brain tumors, and the reason why people don't just walk around with brain-boosting electromagnetic hats all the time.

9. Stimulate its Growth

Oh, electromagnetism! It's such a trickster! One moment its ripping through DNA strands like a pit bull through an old sock, the next minute it's tenderly nurturing the growth of neurons. Scientists found that brains subjected to regular transcranial electromagnetic stimulation for only five days showed an increase in stem cells in the hippocampus. This is the part of the brain that governs memory, making electromagnetic stimulation a possible treatment for Alzheimer's and stroke patients.

8. Train you off food and water

Rats who had been deprived of water were placed in a strong electromagnetic field and offered a sweetened solution. Although they did drink, they drank less than those given the solution without exposure to the electromagnetic field. When rats were given the solution and later exposed to the field, they developed an aversion to the solution over time. Enough electromagnetism may turn you off your favorite food.

7. Make you spin in circles

Other rats (who have a terrible time of it during experiments like these) were found to walk in tight circles under the influence of an electromagnetic field. Scientists think that the field takes out the rats' sense of balance, making them lurch in circles. The lack of balance also may have induced nausea, which causes lethargy and could be one of the reasons that rats go off their feed.

6. Pacify you completely

Transcranial electromagnetic stimulation - subjecting people to strong electromagnetic fields aimed at specific parts of the brain - is sometimes used as a treatment for bipolar disorder or clinical depression. Some patients find an immense relief in this. Other people, who don't suffer from depression, have reason to worry about it. People without any diagnosed medical illness while under such stimulation can be relaxed to a state where they can't think of anything, at all, that bothers them. If that kind of relaxation can be induced at will, it could be used to pacify large parts of the population.

5. Alter your morality

All that relaxation has a price. Sometimes we're meant to fret. For example, if someone is about to cross a dangerous bridge, and we're aware of the chance it can collapse, and they aren't. Those without a magnetic field dancing around their brain, think that allowing the person to cross the bridge would be immoral. Those with a field gaily capering through their neurons think that, as long as this hypothetical person made it to the other side in one piece, there's no real moral problem. Judging the morality of a situation strictly by the outcome makes any crimes with 'attempted' in their description no longer crimes at all. It takes away a person's intentions and bases morality entirely on what happens to occur. Morality becomes a matter of chance.

4. Take out your power of speech but leave your ability to sing

Broca's area in the brain controls the ability to speak. A large electromagnetic field applied to the area takes out that ability entirely. Subjects under this kind of stimulation simply stop speaking the moment the field disrupts that part of the brain, while the rest of the functions are unimpeded. One of those other functions is singing. Although many people think that singing words and speaking words are much the same function, the ability to perform each action is housed in completely different parts of the brain. So people who are unable to talk will sing perfectly normally.

3. Induce panic, disorientation, and deep fear

Although some kinds of electromagnetic fields, applied to certain areas of the brain, pacify people and put them in a good mood, others are said to induce fear. Sometimes people report a persistent, if mild, sense of unease. Others have a more visceral response, feelings of despair and paranoia, sliding into overwhelming terror.

2. Cause Seizures and Death

Under the worst circumstances, exposure to electromagnetic fields can cause a number of serious effects in the brain. Studies have shown that it can change the flow of blood in the brain, and turn off neuron groups. Some people, under the influence of high magnetic fields have caused people to have violent seizures, and even lose consciousness, slip into comas, and die. This is one of the reasons why houses under high electromagnetic fields have ghost stories associated with them. In conjunction with the deep feelings of unease, mysterious seizures and deaths start all kinds of rumors. Of course, those rumors aren't as bad as...

1. Make you see ghosts

Electromagnetic fields, or electric shocks, have induced specific hallucinations in people. Those who are exposed to them, even in laboratory settings, have caused people to complain about a feeling of people following them, talking to them, or watching them. This is not always an uncomfortable sensation. Some people interpret this presence as a malevolent presence, especially if it's coupled with a feeling of unease, but others say they felt an inspiring or comforting presence. Ghost hunters will sometimes say the reverse - that ghosts cause a high electromagnetic field, or sometimes that a high electromagnetic field will allow ghosts to appear. Nobody is sure, yet, what these fields do to ghost brain DNA.

Esther Inglis-Arkell

io9.gizmodo.com/5851828/10-things-an-electromagnetic-field-can-do-to-your-brain

Historical Influencers

History as we know it is a line of events leading -though otherwise unrelated- to the present period. Inasmuch as the main reason behind is past amnesia, we can but speculate regarding the worth of knowing a little more on the history of influencers' sides.

More than one name in the same item means it is the same ISBE (Immortal Spiritual Being).

THE OLD EMPIRE

Prison Staff Operator

1. Asian God Tengri / High Priest of Amun Wennefer / Genghis Khan
2. Akhenaten / Emperor Qin Shi Huang / Muhammad Ali Pasha of Egypt

3. Nefertiti / Neslé-Hannoum (Muhammad Ali Pasha' daughter)

Prison Staff Pilot

1. Tutankhamen / Nicholas I of Russia / Saddam Hussein
2. Mao Zedong
3. Jiang Qing
4. Francisco Franco Bahamonde

Prison Staff Flight Assistant

1. King Leopold II of Belgium / Jimmy Savile
2. Adolph Hitler
3. Augusto Pinochet
4. Charlotte S. (Nazi Death Camp guard)

Old Empire Fleet Pilot

1. SS-Gruppenführer Reinhard Heidrich
2. George H. W. Bush
3. Juan Domingo Peron
4. Manuel Noriega

Old Empire Fleet Flight Assistant

1. Joseph Stalin

THE DOMAIN

Expeditionary Commander

1. Cyrus The Great / Sun Tzu / Hannibal Barca / Aristotle / Roman Emperor Antoninus Pius / King Anawrahta / Saladin / King Gongmin of Goryo / John Zizka / Guy Fawkes / Shivaji Maharaj / Edward Teach -Blackbeard / Karim Khan Zand Sha of Iran / Giuseppe Garibaldi / US Gen. George S. Patton
2. Fu Hao / Boudicca / Laskarina Bouboulina

Expeditionary Pilot Officer

1. Hindu God Shiva / Mencius / Euripides / Dante Alighieri / Raphael Sanzio / King Charles II of England / Charles François de Cisternay du Fay / Oscar Wilde / Nino Bravo
2. Anne Boleyn
3. Pliny the Younger / Faxian / Harun al Rashid / Rumi / Miguel Servet / Donatello / Nicholas Roerich
4. Confucius / Socrates / Pliny the Elder / Petrarch / Johannes Vermeer / David Hume
5. Laura de Noves / Mary Shelley
6. Siddhartha Gautama / Plato / Pyrrhus of Epirus / King Ashoka The Great / Plutarch / Roman Emperor Marcus Aurelius / Guan Yu / King Gwanggaeto of Goryo / King Khosrow I Anushirvan / King Narapatisithu / King Ram Khamaeng / King Sejong of Korea / Alberico Gentili / King Borommakot / Gustave Flaubert / Alberto Lamar Schweyer
7. Cleopatra VII Philopator / Mona Lisa / Infanta Eulalia of Spain
8. Xenophanes / Alcibiades / Charlemagne / John Hus / Jules Verne / Agustin Garcia Calvo

9. The real 'Alien Interview' nurse
10. Thales of Miletus / Pericles / Roman Emperor Hadrian / Leonardo da Vinci / Giordano Bruno / Mark Twain
11. Hindu God Vishnu
12. Laozi

Expeditionary Flight Assistant

1. Rene Descartes / Colonel Gaddafi
2. King Alexander The Great / Christiaan Huygens / Kevin Ayers
3. Eva Duarte Peron
4. Galileo Galilei / Kurt Vonnegut
5. King Herod I The Great / James Dean
6. Denis Diderot / Albert Camus

Some Thoughts

It is very true that the DNA and its interactions are very tangible. Two capable human specimens of opposite sexes can reproduce without even wanting it after a sexual interaction. A pregnancy is always an unpredictable risk factor for a woman.

Without going any further than its appearance, on one hand, the Human Being is preconditioned for the sexual act and reproduction; on the other hand, as newborns we are blank slates. Current thought bias' is to glorify Human Nature based solely on its intelligence. Considering deterministic biological factors and the ghost in the machine, is there a rational space for doubt? Are we really victims of a false flag attack?

On a biological level, with or without Science, with or without Religion, no one is aware either of genes or their daily functioning. Some people believe that Homo Sapiens is Body and Mind, others believe that is Body, Mind, and essential Spirit.

Emotions reflected by religious nonsense encourage a concern when a mixture of beliefs and inappropriate attitudes coalesce due to proven realities on this subject.

Perhaps we should be waiting for NASA to confirm succeeding in experiments on mammal fertilization at the ISS. That would be a serious defeat for those who believe in the component of the essential Spirit in conjunction with Body and Mind.

---

Somehow, I have come to believe most people regard the Universe as something foreign to them. Thus, while denying their own participation in the formation of this Universe, they allow themselves into manipulation. Denial of themselves becomes the Achilles' heel of the masses, tasked to enforce mind and social control protocols whereby creation is either godly in nature, a government liability or, most often both. A sort of pathological state which hinders Self-Realization.

Every speck, every atom and every biological DNA protein in the Universe is the child of minds like yours or mine. Hence, using the mind we can create relationships few others in the current situation dare to sketch. For example, what do we find in a Periodic Table? A list of the known elements with data of their physical properties. Another example, what do we find in the Genome of a species? A list of the genes that make up the DNA of a particular organism its associations and characteristics.

In either case we have the results of a reverse-engineering job on both a number of Natural Elements and the genes of a biological specimen. We are presented sets of true data which ignores completely the Spiritual Realm -the sound frequencies. An excellent sandwich between the limits of the perceptual basis and the expectations of the researchers who worked on it.

Even without the reverse-engineering job, people in the past were able to use and mix materials, have an understanding of life and, lead their own lives. We know thereof the next step is assigning the data to a proper framework. This is where most people fail because of self-denial and the need to blame others or something else. Never an unnatural pathological state due to amnesia between lives.

The missing dimension in Natural Elements and Biological Life findings lies at the immediate upper level of knowledge. Just grasp the Immortal Spiritual Being level then assume ownership and/or responsibility, no need to seek answers neither in books nor in others. Everything is inside You.

---

One day you find yourself floating in your own thoughts, watching the 'madness' of life unfolding right in front of your eyes. An unknown guy approaches from behind with 'tickets' for the game, but you have decided to show him how lucky he is. Now he stands alongside yourself on top of a fence. A country man drives a bullock cart full of hay a few meters below. Seconds later two military planes fly low over your heads. All of a sudden you push the guy down below and falls over the hay. He was lucky indeed, still, he cries foul and you receive a red card penalization for the events.

Let us change the sense of the previous paragraph for a minute. You have died and your Immortal Spiritual Being is floating almost in disbelief watching Life. The Amnesia Machinery senses your situation and comes closer to show you the way to more games. At that time and in your own Awareness of the Universe, you despise such intentions and use your Power in an attempt to thwart the situation. Then, the energy grid from the Amnesia Installations activates its carrier strength. Unsuspectedly for your own thought you have been roughly seized by the field of the grid and going into the hullabaloo of the next situation -being born again in amnesia.

Dialogue of the Newly Disembodied Spirit

Voice - Come toward the Light son

Spirit - I have a scheduled foot trip to (...)

Voice - Follow me son

Spirit - Well, let's be patient,

Voice - Son, the time has come to return to the Origin

Spirit - My colleagues cannot fail me

Voice - You have a date with the Light

Spirit - From here and without showing Powers it may be a few years

Voice - It's time to start again

Spirit - The road is sure to be full of thieves at night

Voice - You have to follow me

Spirit - During the day, one step at a time, touching the ground, avoiding everyone and without infatuations

Voice - You must return to the Light

Spirit - Better do not say goodbye, this is personal

Voice - You have to start again, they wait for you

Spirit - (going for a walk) The nights can be spent under a quiet tree

---

There must be thousands of individual planetary cultures associated to the Old Empire. Allow me to introduce a few to you. Bear in mind that the pictures below are intended as an educational material, they do not pretend to bring any other association out of this context. These prototypes reflect behind their gaze a remote past, when they were not humans on Earth. Female and male examples included. From left to right:

1. The original invader race and rulers of the Old Empire home planet until 10,000 years ago
2. Old Empire home planet inhabitants
3. Unknown planetary culture part of the Old Empire
4. Another unknown planetary culture part of the Old Empire

---

Eduardo Espadas Arrate